During a record year of tax enforcement, more consumers than ever will need professional tax relief representation to resolve their back taxes, unfiled returns, and IRS audits.

Encino, CA – As more IRS-burdened consumers are seeking relief from their tax troubles during a record year of federal spending on tax enforcement, Rush Limbaugh has endorsed Tax Resolution Services, Co. as a provider of solutions for taxpayers with IRS problems.

"If you owe $20,000 or more in back taxes, are under audit or have unfiled returns they can help," said Limbaugh, one of America's leading talk show hosts. "Tax Resolution Services will handle your case and deal with the IRS on your behalf. And they can negotiate a settlement up to 85% of the original amount owed including penalties and interest if you qualify."

Tax Resolution Services has been providing affordable tax relief options to people and businesses with IRS problems since 1998.

"In addition to providing a shield between consumers and the IRS, expert IRS representation can greatly increase your chances of resolving tax problems for the lowest possible amount allowed by law," said Michael Rozbruch, CEO of Tax Resolution Services, Co., an Inc. 5000 company.

Rozbruch adds that with President Obama requesting an increased budget for the Internal Revenue Service, aggressive tax enforcement and collection measures will likely escalate affecting all economic strata in the United States, from the nation's wealthiest to Average Joes.

"You don't want to fight this fight alone," Limbaugh said. "You need Tax Resolution Services. It's a company of dedicated experts that have seen every IRS demand... They can help. But you have to call them now."
