Tax Relief Expert Shares Tax Help Tips on The Big Biz Show's Tax Day Countdown

Michael Rozbruch, CEO of Tax Resolution Services, Co., returns to The Big Biz Show with Russ and Sully to help consumers stay out of IRS trouble.

Encino, CA – With Tax Day quickly approaching, struggling consumers who can't pay their IRS bills come April 18th will need to know their rights and how to get effective tax help. The nationally syndicated radio/TV program The Big Biz Show will feature weekly advice from tax relief expert Michael Rozbruch, who returns to the show to help educate the consumer on tax problem resolution strategies that will help the public resolve their IRS difficulties.

The IRS reportedly received a whopping 13.3% ($1.1 billion) increase in their budget for FY 2012, which will allow them to hire 5,000 new revenue agents to pursue tax cheats and delinquent taxpayers even more aggressively than before.

"I'm not trying to scare you. I'm trying to inform you. I'm emphasizing the immense resources that the IRS has at its disposal for identifying people who owe them money or are cheating on their taxes – the IRS doesn't have one of the largest federal budgets for no reason," said Rozbruch, CEO and founder of Tax Resolution Services, Co. (TRS). "Even the 'small fries' are getting caught now – it's not a game reserved for just the big fish anymore."

Rozbruch and his team at TRS have successfully saved clients over $80 million since 1998. "Negotiating successfully with the IRS is not something that is taught in business school, law school or college," said Rozbruch. "One must know how to successfully navigate the maze of protocols, the Internal Revenue Manual, tax law and be able to interpret these in favor of, and to vigorously defend, their client."

Rozbruch has appeared on hundreds of media outlets across the nation and is The Big Biz Show's go-to TaxMan. "We always get emails from listeners with tax questions after interviewing Michael," said Big Biz Show hosts Bob "Sully" Sullivan and Russ T Nailz. "That guy knows a lot and not only that, if I was ever in trouble with the IRS I know for a fact I would call that guy!"
