Tax Resolution Services, Co., (TRS) Founder and CEO Michael Rozbruch Featured in Finance Publication Opportunist Magazine

TRS founder shares his insights on the IRS and how he became the go-to guy for solving the tax problems for business and individuals throughout the country.

Encino, CA—Opportunist magazine, the highly respected print and online publication geared toward investors, financial planners, and anyone generally interested in economics and the financial industry, features a Q&A-style interview with TRS founder and CEO Michael Rozbruch in its February issue. In the article, Rozbruch discusses at length the steps he took to become a leading tax negotiator and mediator, how he has built TRS into the country's premier company geared toward assisting the growing number of individuals and businesses who owe back taxes or have been audited by the IRS, in addition to other fascinating and surprising news.

"It was truly a treat to discuss the many representation services that Tax Resolution Services offers to taxpayers and other tax issues with Opportunist magazine's Managing Editor Leslie Stone," said Rozbruch. "I have a lot of respect for their publication, and it's a great way to get the word out about how TRS can benefit taxpayers who wish to make good on their tax issues and deserve to be treated fairly by the IRS."

To that end, in the interview Rozbruch mentions why it is so important to entrust your financial security and IRS matters to an expert representative, such as those at TRS. When you call the "800" number on that IRS notice you just received, says Rozbruch, "you're dealing with [lower-level] employees making between $13-$14 an hour. Some may be college graduates, but you're lucky if they have a high school GED. And yet they have your financial fate in their hands! That's why the American consumer needs professional representation when it comes to dealing with the IRS."

As a bonus during the interview, Rozbruch also lets the audience in on some exciting news about a future project on which he is working. He mentions that he is in the process of taping a new television show for the Business Television Network called Tax Man, an informative and educational program intended to keep viewers abreast of IRS and tax news with a variety of interesting segments. The program may expand to more mainstream networks, says Rozbruch, such as CNBC and Spike TV. In the meantime, Rozbruch's interview is an engaging must-read for taxpayers who have failed to file tax returns and anyone involved in the financial industry.

Rozbruch welcomes those under audit to contact Tax Resolution Services via phone at 866-477-7762 or online at www.taxresolution.com for a free no obligation consultation.
